

WHY ARE AVIATION EMPLOYEES KICKING IAM OUT OF THEIR WORKPLACE?

In 2022, employees at Atlantic Aviation PNE filed for a decertification election to remove IAM from their workplace.

After years of paying union dues, the workers felt that they were paying into a system that gave them nothing in return.

After the employees filed for decertification, IAM fled their workplace rather than wait for a vote that it was certain to lose.

“After trying to work with union officials for years, it became apparent our pleas fell on deaf ears. We were paying union officials and got nothing in return, so we’re glad to finally be free of them.”

Once a union is in your workplace, it’s extremely hard to get rid of it. In fact, you have to wait at least a year before you can try. Meanwhile, you could be paying hundreds of dollars in dues.
